Lucky Horseshoe.

It was about the middle of the seventeenth century that the superstitious use of horseshoes as emblems of good luck originated in England, They were at first deemed a protection against witches and evil spirits, and were nailed on doors of houses, with the curve uppermost. It was the belief that no witch or evil spirit could enter a house thus guarded. The custom of nailing horseshoes to ships and other sailing craft is still in vogue in all English-speaking countries. To find a horseshoe with an odd number of nails attached to it is considered the forerunner of good luck, and the more nails the greater the good fortune that is likely to attend the finder. A person about to be married who finds a horseshoe believes that a happy matrimonial career awaits him

First Guns in England.

When Edward IV returned to England in 1471, ten years after he succeeded to the throne, he obtained some forces from his brother-in-law, the duke of Burgundy, including 300 fired by the application of a lighted against the powder in the pan. The invention of a lock to fire the powder in place of the hand was suggested by the trigger of the crossbow. The matchlock fired the arquebus, or harquebus, used by the soldiers of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, in projecting a ball which weighed near-

Monster Cheeses for Presidents.

The first monster cheese presented to a president of which we can find record is that offered with great publicity to Jefferson in 1802. The cheese was made, one might almost say built, in Cheshire, Mass., in a press giving it the great dimensions of 4 feet in diameter and 18 inches in height. After being successfully pressed it was drawn from Cheshire to Washington in a six-horse dray amid popular rejoicing. With regard for the dignity of his office, the president insisted on footing the bill to the tune of $200. There is record of an even greater cheese presented to President Jackson; and President Van Buren received a great cheese every year of his incumbency. With him the custom seems to have ended.

Napoleon Near Capture.

After the passage of the Mincio (at Valeggio) Napoleon, having concerted all his plans and pursued the enemy in every direction, entered a castle on the left bank of the river. He was troubled with a headache and used a foot bath. A large detachment of the enemy, in great confusion, arrived. having ascended the river as far as tion when the projectile is discharged the castle. Human Vanity.

We all try to be wise; and inasmuch as most of us have very little to be wise about of our own conception, we endeavor to be wise through the medium of communicated ideas and precepts. If you make a statement to the ordinary man, and that statement seems to him to have elements of information or understanding or novelty or rationality, he repeats the same statement when he gets an opportunity-not as your statement, but as his. Doubles in Geography.

The 'doubles" of geographical nomenclature are endless. They may be partly accounted for by the tendency of all people to assimilate placeare familiar. The Galicia to which our eyes are turned now takes its name from the town of Halicz: but the Hungarian king who annexed the region at the end of the twelfth century called himself "Rex Galatiae"presumably recalling the country in Asia Minor known to us through St. Paul's Epistle. And now we call England by the same name as the northwestern corner of Spain once inhabited by the Callaici of Gallacci. Bees to Fight Troops.

In the bush fighting in East Africa the Germans and their black troops placed hives of wild bees, partially stupefied by smoke, under lids on each side of narrow tracks along which our troops must advance. Wires or cords lifted the lids when touched by the advancing troops, and swarms of infuriated bees, recovered from their temporary stupor, were let loose on the attackers.. The failure of the sttack at certain points is said to have been due as much to this onslaught of the "little people" as to the German rifles and machine-guns, many men being so horribly stung on the face or hands as to be temporarily blinded or rendered incapable of holding their weapons: Over one hundred stings are said to have been extracted from one of the men of the Royal North Lancashires.-London Mail.

PRESIDENT WILSON POINTS THE WAY FOR PATRIOTS.

At a Time When Clear and Calm Thinking and Judging is Needed.

In an address to the clergymen and lay delegates composing the Southern Methodist conference in Washington on Thursday night, President Wilson said that "wars would never have any ending until men ceased to hate one another, ceased to be jealous of one another and get that feeling of reality in the brotherhood of manking which is the only bond that can make us think justly of one another and act righteously before God bimself.

"There are a great many people," he continued, "not so many that they give me any particular concern, out nevertheless a great many people who, in the language of the day, are trying hard 'to rock the boat.' The boat is too big for them to rock. They are of such light material that they cannot rock it very much, butthey are going through the motions, and it is just as well for them to look around once in a while and see the great steadfast body of self-possessed Ameri cans not to be hurried into any unconsidered line of action, sure that when you are night you can be calm, sure that when the quarrel is none of yours you can be impartial, sure that the men who spend their passion most will move the body politic the least, and that the reaction will not be upon the great body of American citizens. but upon themselves.

"So that I look upon you in the present circumstances as a great part of the stablizer of the nation. Political Theft Proposed.

There were promises before election of real reforms, refusing help to voters unless physically unable to mark ticket by blindness or like cause and taking the party square from ballot. The after election keeping of pledges was illustrated last week in the election bills introduced by Senator McNichol. The election of Pres. Wilson gave first place on the ballot to Democratic candidates because the law provided that the party following the largest vote at the last presidential election should have the first place on ballot. A Mc-Nichol bill proposes nothing more or less than political theft, taking this right away because Democrats now hold it and giving it to the party polling the largest vote at the last general election

Our Teachers.

It may be safely said that many schools in which morals are never taught from text-books, or by formal exercises, furnish a most stimulating drill in the higher and finer moralities every day. Many of us know teachers, who, without much preaching, convey, in all their intercourse with their pupils, the influences and qualities which purify and invigorate character. A considerable acquaintance with teachers impresses me with the belief that the feeling of their responsibility for the moral welfare of their pupils, and their appreciation of the values of character, are steadily deepening among them. No profession is so sacred that shallow and self-seeking persons do not find a place in it; but I believe that as much seriousness and devotion may be found among the teachers of our common schools as among any other class of personsthe clergy not excepted.-Atlantia Monthly.

The Woman's Gift.

It is as natural for the normal woman to talk as for the bird to sing. It is the spontaneous expression and giving of herself. It is this naturalness which gives to her talkativeness its perennial charm as well as its incalculable value in the scheme of things. The woman in the human group is much like the monarch in Pierre Mille's delightful tales of that name. "Why do people call me the monarch? Why am I loved? Why always happy? Because." he explains, "I always have time to talk. Without me the people around here would be bored to death. I go and come, laugh and sing. It costs nothing but a glass of wine, and a bit of supper. What do I give? I give myself." The woman gives herself.-Woman's Home Companion.

Famous Scotch Regiment.

Many people in many countries have heard of the Black Watch; comparatively few have heard of the Fortysecond Highlanders: yet the names are of the same regiment. This famed body, the oldest of all Highland regiments, gets its nickname from its tartan. When the regiment was first formed it was used chiefly to suppress sedition in Scotland, to enforce the disarming act and to disperse unauthorized assemblies. A special tartan from which all bright colors were eliminated was designed for regimental use, and this fact, together with the police nature of the duties of early days, led to the name Black Watch. On many fields, in many parts' of the world, have the soldiers of the Black Watch upheld the glory of this great regiment.

When Napoleon visited Egypt, he planned to reopen the old canal, but was forced to abandon the project. Spring Greeting

We are calling your attention to the great preparations we have made for this Spring, in Clothing, Shoes, Hats, Caps and Furnishing Goods.

If we can have the pleasure of just showing you the New Styles and posting you in regard to the fairness of our prices.

We are positive we can do better by you than other stores can do and we want an opportunity to prove our assertion.

We handle Good Clothing made by the most noted makers.

We guarantee every Article we sell, and your money is never ours until you are perfectly satis-

Then we aim to sell at prices so reasonable that you are perfectly satisfied, and so low that not one cut under and give you the same kind of clothes.

We trust you will be in for a look—that's all we are asking now.

Going to Junk Pile.

The East Berlin Railway is on its Tast lap to the junk pile with the quo warranto proceedings started in this county last week by John D. Keith. Eso, representing Francis Shunk Brown, attorney general of Pennsyl- friends. I hereby beg to announce vania The hearing will probably occur during the April term of the county court An answer to the in the complaint of the attorney gen- crauc Primary, and respectfully soeral shows that there will be no contest of the proceedings by the defendant company This is in line with the threat made by Wm G. Leas to junk the property, because FOR COUNTY TREASURER. the people of Abbottstown and East Berlin refused to give him $30,000 as the price of two streaks of rust that had cost him but $14,000. George W Tschop is named as president, and C. Clark Brown as secretary, in the FOR COUNTY TREASURER. proceedings and they have through Attorneys Cochran. Williams and Kain, of York, filed an answer admirting the charges of the attorney general and saying that they will abide by any ruling of the Adams In his statement relative to the road, Attorney General Brown sets forth that the defendant company has, since September 9, 1914, allowed the road to remain idle, contrary to the act of assembly governing such FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER. franchises and that it is up to the concern to show proper cause why the charter should not be revoked and the road ordered permanently discontinued The entire road of seven and one-half miles lies within Adams county.

Collectorship.

When ex-Congressman A. R. Brodbeck of Hanover was asked last week ahout the rumor that he was an applicant for the postition of the Collector of the Ninth Internal Revenue District of Pennsylvania, he replied "I know nothing about it. Should the appointment come to me FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER I'd welcome it of course." President I'd welcome it of course. Wilson in February had named Benj F Davis, a promient attorney of Lancaster for the office but the U.S.

Senate adjourned without confirm-for DIRECTOR OF POOR, fing the appointment. The President FOR DIRECTOR OF POOR, will now make a recess appointment.

Buildings Destroyed by Fire.

The seven room frame house on the for DIRECTOR OF POOR. the farm of P. M. Mishler on the Ridge road west of town was burned last week to the ground. Samuel Spielman, the tenant, was in Gettys- Post Office address, Idaville, Pa. burg and no one was in the house but the housekeeper. Miss Carrie Miller, and two small children. The roof caught fire and top of house was burning fiercely when discovered, and it was not found possible to save the contents of house. There was no insurance.

The tenant house on the farm of P. B. McCullough, formerly the Marshall farm along the Cold Springs road caught in the early evening and building and contents were to-tally destroyed. The buildings were partly covered by insurance.

A smokehouse on the farm of David Frey of Liberty township was destroyed on Thursday night of last week. Harvey Walter, the tenant. knew nothing of the fire until the next morning. The meat of two hogs was burned in the fire. The smoke-Bouse was located near the dwelling and that the latter escaped destruccon was marvelious.

Ask $50.000 Damages.

A suit for $50,000 damages was started in the Adams county court last Saturday, against the Western Maryland Railway, by Mrs Anna K. Efine of Paltimore. The suit is the result of an accident near Smyser. York county, on March 13, 1914, when I. Frank Eline, the plaintiff's husband, was killed when the auto in which he was riving was struck by one of the company's trains. Attorneys I Cookman Boyd of Baltimore, and J. DAVISON CHEMICAL COMPANY

FIRST MORTGAGE SINKING FUND 6 PER CENT GOLD BONDS. Due May 1, 1932 Interest payable May 1, & Nov. 1.

FREE FROM FEDERAL INCOME TAX.

The Davison Chemical Company, incorporated in 1902, succeeded to the business started by Mr. William Davison in Baltimore $3 years ago.

The Company has just completed at Curtis Bay the largest and most modern sulphuric acid plant in the world. Its product is necessary for the manufacture of fertilizer as well as for the manufacture of steel, copper, etc.

The Company buys its raw material on five-year contracts, and sells the bulk of its output on long term contracts. It is protected for the future as to its raw material, and through its control of phosphate rock is in the position to extend its business, should it become necessary, to the manufac-. ture of acid phosphate.

The bouds are secured by assets of over two to one. Earnings for 1914 were three times the bond interest and

The Sinking Fund will retire $73,500 bonds this year and nearly the entire issue before maturity.

The management is able and progressive and the Board is composed of some of the most successful business men in Baltimore. We recommend these bonds as a desirable investment, yielding an attractive return. PRICE 98 AND INTEREST, YIELDING 6 1-8 PER CENT J. S. WILSON, JR. & CO.. Bankers

SOOTHED THE CRYING CHILD

Escaping Convict Proved to Mother · That She Need Have No Fear in His Presence.

Tenderly petting a young and crying baby which he had picked up from its crib, escaped convict Peter Tosti succeeded in convincing Mrs. Charles Kelley of San Rafael, Cal., after he had gained entrance to her home, that he would not harm her and her two children.

Tosti told Mrs. Kelley that all he wanted was something to eat and a change of wearing apparel for his prison stripes.

Mrs. Kelley was awakened by the crying of her two babies, who had been disturbed by the convict. As she awoke she saw Tosti pick up the younger one and soothingly begin to rock it. He kept this up until the child fell asleep. Noticing that Mrs. Kelley was awake, Tosti addressed her, saying:

"Don't be afraid. I am fond of children and I would not harm two like these-or their mother."

After this he kept up a running fire of conversation, and as soon as he had foraged in the kitchen for some victuals he left, apologizing for his intrusion. With Tosti went Mrs. Kel-Cumberland, Pittsburgh and the ley's husband's overcoat. Tosti had served only two years of a ten-year sentence for grand larceny committed in Merced county when he escaped from San Quentin.

HAS TO DRAW ON ENGLAND

France Feeling the Scarcity of Coal Consequent on the German Controi of the Mines.

France is now compelled to call on England for coal, which was formerly mined in the north of France. Practically all the mines in that district have either been destroyed by the German artillery or are being operated by Germans. At Lievin and Courrieres the German army is carrying on extensive mining operations and producing great quantities of coal, which are being shipped into Belgium for the use of the German military forces.

-France-is-no longer able to draw coal from Mons and Charleroi, which formerly supplied large quantities for exportation. Consequently, the residents of northern France are largely dependent upon English mines for coal, which has become very scarce.

Frequently towns and villages near the fighting lines are entirely without coal for a week. This works great hardship on hospitals, sadly in need of the fuel for hundreds of thousands of wounded and the sick soldiers of the allies who are being cared for in French towns.

· Hospital Barges.

Northern France is rich in waterways, and hospital barges are already running between Paris and the battlefront, under the auspices of the Union des Femmes de France. The hold is enameled white and fitted with 40 beds, and at the end is the nurse's retiring-room. The barge-master's cabin is converted into a living-room for two surgeons. There is an operating-room, too, with washing gear, an electric plant, and a perfect system of heating. To convert a Seine barge into a gondola of this kind costs a bare $500, and the results are beyond praise-especially to fracture cases, to whom the jolting road is agony.

The wounded are hoisted in by means of small cranes, and the barge is then towed by steam or motor Fachts lent by wealthy persons, who are more than glad not only to lend their boats free of charge, but to navigate them in person, thus sharing is the work of mercy.

Who Captured

Was It a French War Detective or a Pretty Girl?

By JOHN Y. LARNED

When the great European war broke oul Arthur Eggleston, a young American reporter, anxious to make his way in the world, full of the vigor of youth and not averse to adventure, saw his opportunity. He took the first steamer for London that sailed and in due time arrived at that city.

Crossing the channel with a contingent of British troops, he landed at Ostend during that period when the German forces were hammering at the forts of Clege and the French and Bilti-b forces were gathering to resist the invasion into France. He applied for permission to attach himself to the British headquarters, but was refused on the ground that no newspaper who looks like an Englishman, armed correspondents would be allowed to accompany the army. At the French in our lines to information. We have neadquarters be received the same respouse to his application. Legleston, having crossed the Atlan-once. Come."

tic ocean and the British channel to report the big fight, determined to follow in the allies' rear, hang about their flanks, anything except get in their way, and report what he could | gather. He found himself at Lille shot. when the allied armies had begun their retreat, but before they bed reached few days ago, where I made the acthat city. He also found "the General Safety." a detective force used to hunt down and eradicate spies. When one is hunting for any particular thing the identity of which is doubtful be is very apt to find it. With a lot of spy hunters in the field a scarecrow set up to those who are able to identify me are keep the crows away from the corn is mor safe. Ecgleston was walking in Lille one day when a file of French soldiers under the command of a lieutenant came down the street, stopping persons here and there. The American did not dream of danger and, when they reached him and the officer de manded to know who he was, where he had come from and where he was going, told him that he was a newspaper correspondent looking for news. The officer, not being satisfied with this. informed him that he must take him to the headquarters of the General safety.

Eggleston was conducted to a buildswering without besitution, but when him in German. bis questioner branched into German the American showed plainly that he did not understand. It did not at once occur to him that the man suspected him of being a German spy and was trying to catch him. Fresently Eggleston bethought himself of his passport and produced it. This established the fact that he was an American, and he was thereafter treated with great consideration.

Eggleston spent some time in Lille without being permitted to go near the armies. One day he was walking along a residence street when he heard a feminium voice say in French: "Monsieur, have you any news of the armies? Will they come this way We are all packed ready to move."

Turning, he saw a pretty girl leaning out of a window. He had studied the French language at school and bad picked up a Frenchman on the way across the Atlantic, with whom he had talked incessantly in order to gather enough French to enable him to get on in France. So be replied as best he could that he was profoundly ignorant of what was going on at the front; he was trying to get there, but thus for had been unsuccessful. Noticing that his French was not of the best, the girl asked him if he were not English. No: be was American. The English were very popular since they had come to assist the French, but before that Americans were the best liked. An elderly lady came to the window, anxiously asked for news and gave Eg-Aceston an invitation to come in. He accepted it. Λ glass of wine was brought out, and the three sat discussing the probabilities of the family having to leave their home and cart their belongings across country to the coast. as the Belgions were doing.

And so it happened that Egglesion. instead of writing up the thunder of guns, the explesion of shells, the rattle spentiseveral days callying with a pretty wirl, at the end of which time, since he did not go to the cans, the cans same to him, and while they were yet in the distance he helped his friends. the Lecires, to remove their effects-or a small persion of them-to a cart be secured for them and saw them entheir way to the southward, after it from curiosity. which he began to do some work as a war correspondent.

Explesion, keeping as near the retreating French and English lines as he dared, preceded their retreat toward the capital. When the tide turned he was on the allies' left flank and one day after witnessing some very hard fighting went into a town on the west bank of the river Oise to write up copy and send it by courier to the coast to be forwarded.

He was sitting in the writing room of the only hotel in the place when a man came in and, bending over him. began to peruse what he was writing.

"Are you a consor?" ased Eggleston. looking up with a second.

"I am an officer of the General Safety corps, mensieur. Who are you?" "I am an Americ, a newspaper correspondent, writing in account of today's battle and in a 't irry," "Dughsh?"

"No: American."

"I would like to see your passport, monsieur.''

Eggleston took his passport from his pocket, threw it on the table and went on writing. The man picked it up. opened it, read it and compared the personal description with the correspondent. "Eves blue, bair light. The Germans all have blue eyes and light hair."

"Germans: What do you mean? Don't you see that the passport reads, 'A citizen of the United States? "

"Monsieur, you may as well own up first as last. You are a German spy." Eggleston pushed back his chair and stared at the man.

"German spy! Why, my dear fellow. I am an American. Can't you read English?

"The passiont has been stolen. The Germans took it from an American. You need not try to deceive me. We have received a warning." "What warning?" "A German who has lived in England, who speaks English like a native.

last week." At this moment another man came into the room and looked at Eggleston as a hound would look at a hare in which he was about to set his reeth. The two Frenchmen talked together in a low voice. Eggleston thought it better not to seem much troubled ing in a room of which an officer, sit about the matter and, taking up one ting behind a desk, regarded him om of the sheets before him, pretended inously. The Frenchman began ask- to read. A third man was called into

Eggleston, who did not understand a word of what was said to him, but recognized that it was in the German' language, replied: "Nicht versteh." This was quite enough for the Frenchman, who held that the "nicht versteh" was full proof that the suspect was a German. However, after deliberation they concluded to refer the case to some one higher up; so they placed Eggleston under guard for the night. But the allies were at that time too busy fighting for any one in authority to pay any attention to an individual case. The next morning, no reply having been received concerning the suspected spy, his captors concluded that it was best to take no risks, but shoot him, though they did not like to do so on an uncertainty, for in case be should be what he pretended they would be liable to get themselves into

The roar of battle at times sounded nearer and at times more distant. On one occasion when the guns were louder Englesion's captors decided to remove him to a town farther west. During the journey they were about to cross a road running north and south and had stopped to let a train of refugees pass when among the latter Englesion caught a glimpse of the pretty girl he had met in Lille.

"Mademoisellel" he shouted. Louise Legire turned and, seeing the American who had assisted the family in the hour of need, clasped her hands with French fervency and called her mother's attention to Islan.

A halt was called, and the refugees and the detective came together for a conference. Both mother and daughter were horrised when they learned that "le len Americain" was to be of rifles, the grouns of the wounded, shot as a spy. They told the story of having seen bits in Lille about a week before and how he had assisted them. This was proof positive that he was not traveling on a captured passport, for he had shown it to an officer of the General Safety corps in their presence, and Louise, who had never seen a passport before, had examined > Egglesten's captors apologized for having intended to shoot him as complacently as if they were doing so for having unintentionally joggled him in passing. They demissed him, and the last seen of him he had joined the Legires, and that is the last that has been heard of him. His reports to his paper suddenly stopped. There are those who suspect that this ending of the story is incorrect and that he was really shot as a spy. But such persons do not consider that there is always danger of a man being carried away by a pretty girl even if there are plenty of war ' > handy to do the job.

Co Glad Vacation Time. V.

The boy home from school for the summer vacation on the dear old farm, rested on his hoe, and gazed over across the broad, hay-scented field where the game was going on. "Ah," said he, sighing, "why are we born? Why lured from eternal nothingness Into concrete existence, to buffet the storms of this unkind world? What, then, this problem of human existence with which science has wrestled futilely for ages?" And his revered parent, leaning over the tence, said be didn't know; but, all the same, there would be no baseball for sonny that afternoon, and if he didn't hoe out that 'tater patch before night there'd be some wrestling done, though, that'd make science open her eyes if she should chance along by the woodshed that evening.—Exchange.

Good Work of Humble Worm.

Worms are great promoters of verretation by boring, perforating and loosening the soil and rendering it pervious to rains and the fibers of plants by drawing straws and stalks of leaves and twigs into it, and, most of all, by throwing up such infinite numbers of lumps of earth called wormcasts. which form a fine manure for grain and grass. The earth without worms would soon become cold, hard, void of fermentation and consequently sterile. This has occurred in many cases where the worms have been either accidentally or intentionally destroyed, and the fertility of the soil thus lost has only been restored when the worms had again collected and resumed their fertilizing work.

Advice to Readers.

Very ready are we to say of a book. "How good this is-that's exactly what I think!" But the right feeling is "How strange that is! I never thought of that before, and yet I see it is true, or if I do not now, I hope I shall some day." But whether thus submissively or not, at least "And I must suffer as a spy because | be sure that you go to the author to get his meaning, not to find yours.
